HORSE STOLEN IN CARTHAGE

Outfit Belonging to Samuel Denten and Logan Nelson Taken From Stable Last Night.

WAS TRACED TO THIS CITY

Trail Ended Here When Brick Streets Were Reached and Animal Has Not Been Found.

A horse and buggy was stolen last night from the barn of Samuel Denten in Carthage. The robbery was reported to the police here, but no trace of the outfit has as yet been found. The horse was the property of Mr. Denten and the harness and buggy belonged to Logan Nelson.

The robbery was not discovered until six o'clock this morning, when Mr. Denten went to the barn to feed the horse. He found there was hay still in the manger and only a small portion of what he had placed there the night before was gone, indicating that the horse must have been taken by nine o'clock. The horse was a valuable one and Mr. Denten is very anxious to find the outfit. The animal was about 15 hands high and bay in color with the exception of a very small white patch on the forehead. The right rear ankle is a little larger than the left and in walking the foot is turned out. Mr. Nelson traced the horse to this city by means of the track left by the horse's right hoof. The trail was very plain and led from Carthage direct to this city, where it was lost when the brick street was reached.

A visit was made of all the livery stables, but no one had seen a horse answering the description. Mr. Nelson accompanied Chief of Police McAllister to the gypsy camp east of the city this afternoon. It was thought that the thief had taken the horse there and made a trade with the gypsies, but the horse was not found in the camp and no one there had seen the animal.

The police in Connersville and other cities have been notified to be on the lookout for the horse and it is expected the thief will be captured before long.

BRAKEMAN HURT WHEN POLE BROKE

John Jewell of New Albany Seriously Injured While at Work in This City.

REMOVED TO INDIANAPOLIS

John Jewell, 30 years old, a brakeman on the east-bound C. H. & D. local freight was seriously injured today, shortly after noon when the train was switching in this city. The accident happened at the west end of the house switch near Arthur street. Jewell was on the step of a box car, which was being pushed on the side track by the engine with the aid of a large pole. The pole broke, hitting him in the chest. Jewell was rendered unconscious and was taken to the home of George Perkins, where Dr. VanOsdol dressed his injuries. Dr. VanOsdol stated that no bones were broken, but several ribs may have been dislocated and he may be injured internally. Jewell was removed to an Indianapolis hospital this afternoon. His home is 1627 Water street, New Albany.

ENTRY LISTS ANNOUNCED

Several Rush County Horses Will be Raced at State Fair.

The entry list for the State fair harness races has been announced and the names of a few Rush county horses appear in the list. Lillie Patchen, a black mare by the Patchen Boy, owned by Hill brothers of Carthage, is entered in the 2:20 pace Tuesday, and the 2:18 pace Thursday. Joe Lederer, owned by George Hardesty of Milroy, is entered in the 2:12 pace on Wednesday. Lady Winwood, owned by John C. Frazier, living a short distance west of the city, is entered in the 2:21 trot on Friday.

WOULDN'T TRUST BANKS WITH MONEY

Lewisville Man Had no Faith in the Financial Institutions and Kept Funds at Home.

BURGLARS TOOK HIS "WAD"

I. N. Williams of Lewisville had little faith in banks and did not even trust the one in his home town to keep his savings safe. As a result he kept $150 in bills at his home in a bureau drawer. While he was away from home, a work, a burglar entered the house and departed with the roll. Bloodhounds were to have been used, but a heavy rain destroyed the scent.

REQUESTS NAME OF TWINS' FATHER

George W. Smith of Seattle, Wash., Addresses Peculiar Letter to Rushville Postmaster.

Charles Frazee, postmaster, today received a very peculiar letter from a man who signs his name George W. Smith of Seattle, Washington. The letter is peculiar in that it is difficult to understand what idea the writer means to convey. Smith asks if the postmaster remembers twin girls who disappeared from their home in this city in 1909, and he recalls the fact that their parents were alarmed at the time and offered a reward for information concerning their hiding place. He states that "their father is a wealthy lumberman or sawmill owner in your city or roundabout there somewhere." He requests that the postmaster give him the father's name and address or that his name and address be given the father. No case, parallel to the one described by Smith, can be recalled here.

FAIR WILL BE MONEY LOSER

What Promised to be Best Exhibition in Many Years is Spoiled by Rain.

THURSDAY CROWD IS LARGEST

Great Interest is Shown in the Boys' Stock Judging Contest--Other Awards Made.

Due to the inclement weather this year the fair will probably be more of a financial failure than it was ever even though it was the best fair ever put on here. Fair officials say that they had more exhibition stuff and more concessions than ever before, but they were unfortunate enough to have rain along with it.

Will King, secretary, was in the court house today paying off bills contracted by the association. Premium money was also paid out today. He will pay the premium winners, who failed to call today, in the court house next week. It is hoped to settle up the business as soon as possible.

The people responded this year better than ever before. Despite the fact that the weather was very bad Thursday and lowering clouds threatened to bring all Thursday morning, the crowd that went to the fair was almost as large as the banner crowd of last year on Thursday. There were only twelve hundred less single admission tickets sold at the traction gate this year. There were several hundred more sold at the road gate on Thursday this year. This is due, fair officials believe, to the fact that the road to the fair ground this year was much improved and less dusty, and for that reason people drove to the ground rather than ride the cars out. The Wednesday crowd was as large as it was last year.

There was considerable more interest in the boys' stock judging contest this year than last. Seven boys tried for the prize of ten dollars. There were only three entries last year. The prize was won by Hershell Peters of Union township and George Peters was given second place. The boys who competed will have an advantage over boys who have not had the experience if they care to enter a similar contest to be held at the State fair week after next. The prize there is much larger.

The premiums awarded at the Rush county fair in several of the departments are as follows:

Cattle Department--J. G. Robbins & Son, 8 first, 1 second; W. A. Goodin & Son, 7 first, 7 second; Wee & Cook, 6 first, 4 second. Dairy cattle, John Boyd, 9 first, 6 second.

Poultry Department--J. G. Burnside, 67 first, 60 second; J. A. Horning, 76 first, 43 second; Rohn Bros., 10 first, 8 second; Clair Johnson, 13 first; 15 second; Albert Curry, 1 first, 3 second; Chris King, 3 first, 3 second; Orville Hill, 1 first, 2 second; Mrs. George Thomas, 1 second; Fred Shriener, 1 first, 2 second.

Woman's Department--Mrs. Ernest Neutzenhelzer, 11 first, 3 second; Miss Sallie Johnson, 1 first, 2 second; Mrs. Wm. Welch, 7 first, 8 second; Miss Hazel Murphy, 2 first, 2 second; Mrs. George Stanley, 9 first, 2 second; Miss Curtis Lore, 21 first, 28 second; Mrs. L. P. Norman, 8 first; 11 second; Mrs. Minnie Abercrombie, 10 first, 7 second; Mrs. O. C. Norris, 2 first, 3 second; Mrs. L. C. Covault, 12 first, 6 second; Mrs. M. L. McConaughy, 3 first, 3 second; Mrs. F. E. Wolcott, 15 first, 15 second; Miss Helen Black, 1 first, 2 second; Mrs. A. B. Denning, 2 first, 2 second.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK IS OPENED

Miss Helen Frazee, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frazee is First Depositor.

DEPOSITS COME IN SLOWLY

Bank Will be Open From 7 Until 7 and on Saturday Night Until 7:30.

The postal savings bank, installed in connection with the local postoffice was opened at seven o'clock this morning, as it was announced several days ago it would be. The bank has not been rushed with depositors, but the postoffice clerks believe that it will be popular in time.

Miss Helen Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frazee of East Fifth street, was the first depositor this morning. It is argued that Rushville people are not very familiar with the bank as yet and that depositors will increase in number as soon as the new institution is better known.

The bank will be operated in connection with the local postoffice and all deposits are made through the window where money orders are sold.

The bank is open for business from seven o'clock in the morning until seven o'clock in the evening with the exception of Saturday evening when it will be open until seven-thirty o'clock. Charles Brown, deputy postmaster, will be in charge of the bank.

Sums of less than one dollar can not be deposited, but there is an arrangement whereby ten cents or a greater number of ten-cent pieces, may be put in each week until a dollar is accumulated which may then be placed on deposit. There is a card with an embossed ten-cent stamp in one corner. There are nine vacant spots on the card where nine similar ten-cent stamps may be placed. By paying ten cents a depositor may get a card with the one stamp on it. As many stamps as are wanted may be purchased and when the depositor fills the card, it containing one dollar in stamps, it may be placed to their credit.

There are two deposit slips, one original and a duplicate. When a deposit is made the depositor is given the original slip and an envelope in which to keep it. On the front of the envelope are the rules governing the operation of the bank and on the back is an arrangement so that the depositor may keep a record of his or her deposits if they so desire.

The duplicate of deposits is kept on file in an envelope in the postoffice. The account of the depositor is kept on the back of the envelope. The matter of taking care of the accounts will be a very small one as there is little bookkeeping to be done. Local postoffice employees say that Postmaster General Hitchcock is responsible for the simple system.

As has already been announced by the government, the Peoples National Bank and the Rush County National Bank are depositories for the postal bank.

The department circular sets out much information, among which is the following:

Accounts may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of ten years or over in his or her own name and by a married woman in her own name and free from any interference or control by her husband. No person can have more than one account at any one time.

No person may open a postal savings account at any postoffice who is not a patron of that office.

All accounts must be opened in person by the depositor or his authorized representative. After opening an account a depositor may forward subsequent deposits to the postoffice by mail.

Deposits will be accepted only from individuals, and no account will be opened in the name of any corporation, association, society, firm or partnership, or in the names of two or more persons jointly.

No account will be opened in the name of one person in trust for or on behalf of another person or persons.

The services of the postal savings system is free, and no charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of an account or the withdrawal of money deposited.

COWGIRL FALLS WHEN PONY SLIPS

Seemed That Daring Young Woman Had Broken Her Neck in Accident at Wild West Show.

FALLS ON HER FACE IN MUD

Attendants at the Young Buffalo wild west show yesterday afternoon turned their heads in horror when they saw a little spotted pony, running at a rapid gait and carrying a daring cowgirl, slip and fall in a mud hole directly in front of the reserved seat section. The girl managed to pull her feet from the stirrups and fall free of the pony, but she did not escape the fall by any means. Her face hit squarely in the mud puddle and her body was poised in the air for an instant. Then she turned a complete somersault and it was the natural presumption among the people in the audience that her neck was broken. But she jumped up, mounted her pony and was off again, only to appear and take part in many other dashing acts, after she had donned a clean attire.

CARL MORRIS TO STUDY IN PARIS

New York Baritone, Who is Visiting Old Friends Here, Will go Abroad in Spring.

SINGS AT MAUZY RECEPTION

Carl Morris, the New York baritone and former Rush county man, who is visiting friends here now, plans to go abroad next spring to take further work in music. He will study in Paris under some well known instructors. Mr. Morris went to New York City from this city a few years ago and has attained a name for himself in an incredibly short space of time. He is now recognized as one of the leading baritones if that city. Aside from doing special concert work and acting as soloist in the churches, he has sung with some of the noted soloists of the world. A few months ago he sang baritone with the Mendelssohn quartet which sang for the Columbia Phonograph Company and records of their numbers may be purchased now. All the time that Mr. Morris has been singing, he has never given up his study. He takes lessons and, by hard work, has succeeded in improving his voice more each year. Last evening he sang at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Mauzy and his voice was a revelation to the guests, so much better was it than when he sang at the chautauqua a year ago.

AGITATION FOR FREE FAIR IS ON

Opinion is Commonly Expressed Today Rush County Will Have to Advance to That.

BUSINESS MEN INTERESTED

Say That Fair Can be Run Successfully Without Charging Admission at Gate.

The agitation for a free fair is on in earnest.

A free fair for Rush county in years to come was the topic among business men on the streets today. They believe that it can be done and that, in order to keep up with modern methods, it will be necessary to hold a free fair in the future. It is argued that the change can not be made all at once, but that it will have to come about by degrees and that it may be several years before it can be made.

It was said this morning that there is every reason to believe that the fair can be operated with the portion of taxes which the fair association believes should be given it each year by the commissioners and the revenue from concessions and entry fees. One business man stated this morning that he believed the fair could be run for four thousand dollars and that that amount could be raised very easily.

It has been estimated accurately that the fair association's per cent, which, it has always been said, is due it from the county and which the directors have made numerous attempts to get, would amount to about two thousand dollars. It is also estimated that the other two thousand could be raised from concessions and from other sources.

Another business man said that he merchants of Rushville should wake up and realize that the fair is taking place each year and that it attracts many people to Rushville. He said that they ought to assist the institution as much as possible. He recalled the fact that in Connersville, where a free fair is held every fall, the merchants give money and other prizes as premiums in various show classes. He said that if the merchants of Rushville would take that much interest in Rush county's fair, there would be no doubt but that a free fair could be made a success.

The fact that the fair was a failure this year has led to the renewed agitation for a free fair. Several business men who were never interested in it before have expressed some concern and believe that it has approached a crisis.

ABANDON ANOTHER WELL

Driller is Moved About One Hundred Feet This Time.

Another well of the series which the city has been digging in an effort to get water to supply the needs of the city patrons, was abandoned this afternoon shortly after the noon hour. This time the well driller was moved about a hundred feet instead of twenty-five. It was located back of the Worth garage at the end of East First street. The driller encountered the same difficulty this time as before. A slanting layer of hard rock was struck and it was impossible to drill through it.

John Simpson of St. Paul was fishing from the side of the boat when a large snapping turtle leaped from the water and grabbed Simpson by the hand. The knuckle of the second finger was chewed severely before the turtle could be made to let go.

In the Shade of That Dear Soda Fount, Tra La

What amount does Rushville spend daily on ice cream, soda water and other refreshing things for sale at the soda fountains on a hot day like this one? How many gallons of ice cream do the soda dispensers send across their counters during each twenty-four hours.

With the advent of the present warm period came the increase in the sales of the soda dispensers and the inspiration for the foregoing questions. The figures in the summer are astonishing high; those of the winter surprising. Owners of soda fountains are unanimous in the opinion that the soda business is growing better year by year.

There are something like five dispensaries of ice cream and the thirst quenching drinks that accompany it, which can be classed under the head of soda fountains, in Rushville. These serve both the sodas and the sundaes in addition to root beer, cocoa cola and phosphates. The money spent annually in Rushville for these satisfiers of the sweet tooth and the heat sufferer, runs into the thousands of dollars.

No really correct estimate can be obtained because of the great variation of sales. From estimates of city-dealers it can easily be figured that from 50 to 100 gallons of ice cream are consumed in Rushville daily during the summer months. This means a total amount of from $75 to $125 spent in Rushville daily during the same period for ice cream alone.

Probably no business depends upon the weather as does the soda fountain. When the weather is extremely hot the soda business is a veritable "bonanza" when it turns cool the effect upon the sales is rapidly noticeable. During the summer the average sales of the soda dispensers which include the sun coming across their counters for all varieties of drinks, range from $5-a-day dispensers to mark sale in his biggest day of $97. The highest mark reached by one dispenser was $97, which means that at least 1,500 high average for the days run for consignments of ice cream or soft drinks were sold during the day. The soda dispensers throughout the city does not greatly exceed $30.

That sundaes outnumber the sodas at least two to one is the consensus of opinion of owners of local soda fountains. The consumers have taken to the sundae with a vengeance and the soda, which formerly held full sway at the soda fountains, relegated to the background. There is practically no difference in the cost of preparing the sundae and soda.

Hulled nuts, as a necessary part of the "bachelor" are used in large quantities. The public demands the "buffalo" and the soda dispensers are compelled to furnish them in practically the same amount as the unadorned sundaes. One local soda dispenser sells on an average of one and one-half pounds a day. The average of all the soda fountains of Rushville will fall far below that mark, it is estimated.

Chocolate is the most demanded of all the flavors used. Each of the larger stores disposes of more than three gallons of this syrup daily. Lemon comes second, pineapple third, strawberry fourth and orange fifth.

Weather changes made a noticeable effect upon ice cream and soft drink sales. When the mercury is hovering around the century mark the number of soft drinks including root beer, coco-cola, and phosphates advances in proportion. July and August, as the warmest months of the average year, are the months in which the largest sales are made. Of the winter months, December is said to have the largest number of sales. The cold weather it would seem, would almost completely eradicate the soda business. This, however, is not the case. One local dispenser stated that the ice cream sales were but cut in half by the advent of the cold weather. This loss was almost entirely made up by the sale of hot drinks. The average daily sales of the larger soda dispensers of the city during the winter months exceeds $15.

Some Facts About Harry Vetch

Within the past year or two there have been printed in farm papers a number of articles testifying to the value of vetch as a green manuring plant. These results seem to be well corroborated. The Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station has been growing vetch for several years, and since many inquiries have been made concerning vetch, this brief statement is made concerning plant by M. L. Fisher, associate in crops at the station.

Hairy vetch is a legume belonging to the same family of plants as the clovers, soy beans, and cow peas. It is also known by the names of winter vetch and sand vetch. The plant has beautiful purple blossoms gathered in a cluster, compound leaves with six or eight leaflets, and weak stems. The roots are fibrous and rather coarse. The plant has a tendency to grow throughout the summer, having ripe seed and blossoms on the stem at the same time. The plant seems to be adapted to all types of soil, preferably the clay loam, well drained.

Land for vetch should be plowed and prepared the same as for sowing wheat. Thorough disking may also make a good seed bed, depending upon conditions. Vetch may also be sown in standing corn. The sowing is best done with a drill, sowing from 40 to 60 pounds of seed per acre. The month of August is preferable for sowing, although early September sowing may also be satisfactory. After sowing, the crop will need no further attention. The plant starts growing early in the spring and makes rapid growth, and is ready to pasture or turn under the middle of April, at which time the growth should be as much as 12 inches to 18 inches in length.

Hairy vetch is probably better for green manuring than for any other purpose, although some farmers have had good results from pasturing it with hogs and cattle. However, some farmers have found that their animals do not relish the plant as a pasture. If rye is sown with the vetch it tends to hold the vetch up, and the crop may be cut for green feed at about the time the rye is beginning to head. It makes very good feed for dairy cattle.

In 1910 the Station obtained from a mixture of rye and vetch, green weight of six tons per acre, equivalent to about two and three fourths tons of dry hay. In 1911 the yield was eight and one fourth tons of green weight, equivalent to about three and one half tons of cured hay. Vetch sowed alone this year made a green weight of nine and three fourths tons per acre.

The vetch plant, like other legumes, has an abundance of nodules on its roots when the ground is well inoculated. In some cases the plant produces nodules the first time sown. In other cases the nodules do not appear and inoculation seems to be necessary.

It seems wise to sow a small acre for one or two years until inoculation is obtained and then use this soil to inoculate larger areas. The plant is so little grown that inoculated soil is not easily obtained, and in most cases it is probably not needed.

The Experiment Station in its work has noted two things concerning hairy vetch which seem to be against it. One is that it has a tendency to winter kill, some winters killing badly, other winters not very much. There is a tendency for the plant to escape from cultivation and become a weed. As a weed it will do no harm except as it may appear in wheat fields where it will grow and mature with the wheat, and the seed being threshed cannot be easily separated from the wheat.

The Experiment Station believes that the crop merits further consideration by the farmers in the state and suggests that the beginner operate on a small scale until he is convinced that it is something that he wants.

Family Reunions

The Daily Republican earnestly invites secretaries or any other officials of family reunion associations to send the dates and places of holding the annual meetings to this office so that they may be published and in that manner many members may be notified who might not otherwise receive the date for the annual event. The Republican will be pleased to receive dates and places of holding as soon as possible as well as accounts of the gatherings as soon as possible after they take place.

The following family reunions have already been announced:

The annual reunion of the Cummins family will be held at Cummins' park, east of Daleville, on Sunday, August 27. All persons related to the family are invited to come with well-filled lunch baskets and enjoy a pleasant day.

The Second Annual Reunion of the Widener family will be held Thursday August 31, in the grove at the home of Oliver P. Widener, three miles north of Pendleton. A number of Wideners live in Rush county and the officers of the reunion association, not having their address, have taken this means of notifying them of the time of the reunion, and they are urged to be present or write Robert Widener, Pendleton, Ind., giving their address, that they may be notified of future reunions of the family.

The fifth annual reunion of the Swain family will be held at the Rush county fair grounds Labor day, September 4. H. C. Pitts is secretary of the association.

The annual reunion of the Sixty-Eighth Indiana regiment will be held September 5 in Rooms 11 and 12, State House, Indiana. John Taylor is president and Isabel White, secretary.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Daniel Hall family will be held at Riverside Park, Indianapolis, on Tuesday, September fifth.

The Addison family will hold their reunion in Crafts grove, east of Charlottesville, on Thursday, Sept. 7. Adah Addison is secretary.

THE MONA LISA

World-Famous Painting Which Has Mysteriously Vanished From Paris.

Paris, Aug. 26.—No trace has been discovered of "Mona Lisa," and there are nothing but conjectures in explanation of the disappearance of the painting from the Louvre.

TESTIMONY AGAINST BEATTIE COMING OUTProsecution Making the Most of a Circumstantial Case.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 26.—When Paul Beattie takes the stand the climax of the commonwealth's case against Henry Clay Beattie, jr., standing trial here for wife murder will come. The testimony of two days has been leading up to and preparing for this step. The attorneys for the prosecution will attempt to show through Paul Beattie's testimony that the gun which was found near the Midlothian turnpike the day after Mrs. Beattie was murdered and which has hitherto remained unidentified before the court as to ownership, was the same gun that Paul Beattie got at a pawnshop at the instance of Henry Beattie and turned over to him. How much else Paul Beattie may tell closely implicating his cousin with the commission of the homicide is a matter of conjecture, for Paul Beattie has been kept closely guarded by the prosecution and the extent of the complicity which he had in the crime, either unwittingly or otherwise, has not been allowed to become public.

It is not unlikely that the defense may move for the indictment of Paul Beattie as a result of the revelations he may make.

Most serious of the testimony against Beattie thus far given was that of one witness, who swore that at five minutes before 11 on the night of July 18 he heard a woman's shrill scream at a spot on the Midlothian turnpike about 500 yards from his house and that the scream was followed almost instantly by the report of a gun. Another witness testified to having seen a man much resembling Beattie standing by an auto about twenty or thirty feet from the spot afterward marked by a pool of blood; this was a few minutes after sundown on the same evening as that of the homicide. The statement was in line with the effort of the prosecution to show that Beattie had gone to the place where the murder was committed before he had taken his wife out for a ride in the auto and had secreted the shotgun with which the slaying was done, behind a stump a few feet off the road.

Two Boys and a Gun.

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 26.—Olin Ross, aged twelve, was shot and killed while hunting with Carl Ellis, aged fifteen. The boys were shooting turtles, when a charge from Ellis's gun entered Ross's lungs and he bled to death.

OLD SOLDIERS IN DEATH TRAPThirty-One Killed in Lehigh Valley Wreck.*CAUSED BY SPREADING RAILS

Fast Train Leaves Track and Plunges Off Bridge—List of Dead Not Complete, as Among the Sixty or Seventy Injured, Twenty-Five Are Said to Be Suffering Fatal Injuries—Many Were Returning From Encampment.

Geneva, N. Y., Aug. 26.—At the village of Manchester, about sixteen miles northwest of this city, one of the worst wrecks in the history of this section of the state occurred when a fast passenger train on the Lehigh Valley railroad, eastbound, was derailed about 100 feet east of the Manchester station, part of it falling into the Canadigua outlet. Thirty-one dead bodies were removed from the wreckage, and between sixty and seventy persons were seriously injured, twenty-five believed to be fatally so. Of the bodies identified the majority of the people are from Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia and other points in Pennsylvania.

This train was considerably behind its schedule and was running at a high rate of speed when it passed the station. Among the passengers on the train were a large number of G. A. R. veterans and their relatives, who were returning from the national encampment at Rochester to their homes in various points in the east, but as far as could be learned there are but three veterans dead, none of whom has been identified. A number of friends and relatives of the veterans are among the dead and injured.

An examination of the wreck indicates that it was caused by the spreading of the rails at a point between the Manchester station and the bridge over the Canadigua outlet. It is apparent that part of the heavy train passed over the defective rails. The first car to leave the track was a diner, which was the fourth car in the train from the engine. The diner took with it a Pullman which was just behind it. While the diner remained on the roadbed, the Pullman was hurled down a sixty-foot embankment into the Canadigua outlet. It was in this car that the greatest loss of life occurred. While other cars in the train did not go down the embankment, their momentum carried them into the rear end of the diner, causing a considerable loss of life and serious injury to persons in this car.

As soon as the wreck occurred the work of rescue began. Relief trains were rushed to the scene of the accident from Rochester, Canadigua, Clifton Springs and Geneva with physicians and nurses to aid in caring for the injured.

As soon as the injured people could be gotten from the wrecked cars they were loaded on cots in a special train and hurried to hospitals in Rochester.

DEADLY EXPLOSION

Fifteen Lives Lost When Magazine Let Go at Port Limon.

Port Limon, Costa Rica, Aug. 26.—Fifteen lives and many thousands of dollars worth of property were sacrificed to the carelessness of a soldier, one of the garrison in the powder magazine at San Jose, who lighted a fire with which to melt lead for casting little images of the saints which he sold to help out his scanty pay.

The magazine, which contained 98 cases of dynamite, 8,288 kilos of black powder, 1,679 kilos of smokeless powder, and 13,000 caps, was blown up. Lieutenant Sacarias Cuero, Sergeant Saenz Vargas, three soldiers and ten natives were killed. Seven houses were damaged, almost every pane of glass in the city, a mile distant, was shattered, the Pacific railway station suffered considerable damage, while the Episcopal palace and cathedral and the National theater were filled with splintered glass and fragments of plaster. Churches in San Pedro Mojon, four miles away in Alajuelita, San Sebastian and Hatillo suffered in the same manner.

Fribourg, Switzerland, Aug. 26.—An operation was performed at the Laryngological clinic by Drs. It is said the operation was successful and it is believed a permanent cure will be effected.

ATWOOD IN GOTHAM AFTER LONG FLIGHTAviator Finally Reaches Governor's Island.

New York, Aug. 26.—Carrying a suitcase, but bareheaded because he took off his cap to bid Yonkers good-by after he had flown down the misty Hudson, and the cap planed into the river, Harry Atwood got here Friday afternoon from St. Louis by aeroplane. He descended at Governor's Island at 2:35 o'clock after doing the final jump from North Nyack, thirty-one miles, in forty-two minutes. In covering the 1,265 miles from St. Louis he was in the air twenty-eight hours and nine minutes. It is the longest journey ever made by a man in the air.

Just what this unprecedented accomplishment means to Atwood in cash he did not know at the time. When he got to the Knickerbocker hotel, $10,000 was handed to him by Victor J. Evans, a patent attorney of Washington, who offered that prize because he thought the Washington chamber of commerce had not done the right thing in merely taking Atwood out to lunch when he flew from New York to the capital. Then there is $1,500 that was paid by a St. Louis paper on the day he started east, and there may be something coming for exhibitions at eight towns along the way.

"But," says Atwood, "you must know that I paid $4,000 to my managers at Lyons the other night in order to be relieved from my contract. Oh, I got very tired of flying just to suit somebody else's financial convenience. My net profit is so little that I hate to talk about it."

Atwood talks well and modestly. "I think," he said, "that I have proved that an aeroplane can travel clear across the continent at will. I hope to start in October on the flight to San Francisco for a prize of $50,000."

Good rains fell in the Austin territory Friday, breaking a drouth of four months. South Texas was also visited by fierce rains.

"The Reason Why"

Why has CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR, been the best seller for the last 6 years?

Because the principle was right from the first, and the flour has always been made right. That is the secret—correct principle and best of material and workmanship.

That is why the first users are still using it. Why we are selling more of it every year. Why when once a user, always one.

Beef prices will jump owing to the drought, but we can still eat fish that live where they don't have many dry times.

Corsets are not to be fashionable this winter, 'tis said. The attempt to convert a meal bag into an hour glass is again nature.

President Lovett of Union Pacific denounces Wallstreet's "lie factory" but when many of our railroads have new stock to sell they handle the output of that factory at a handsome profit to themselves.

There were 25,000 veterans to march at the G. A. R. encampment. No man who has carried a gun takes kindly to being hauled around like so much freight in automobiles and wagons.

The cost of living is higher than ever, but every time you persuade a boy to quit the dry goods business and go to farming you do more to remedy it than can be accomplished by a legislative investigation.

The stealing of the famous Mona Lisa painting from the Louvre in Paris interests more people than would have been the case formerly. Once the great paintings of the world were known only to those who could make an European trip. Now every furniture store retails its Raphael and Titian Madonnas.

The Mona Lisa is as famous as any picture in the world, and as generally familiar through reproduction in books. It has never been used as much for reproduction as a household ornament. You would feel that the old girl, with that tantalizing and satiric shadow of a smile, was eternally laughing at you. She would seem to see through the shams and pretences of modern life.

That such a picture could be carried off will seem strange to all who have visited the foreign galleries who will recall how keenly they were scrutinized by the omnipresent attendants, who never know when a visitor will prove to be an art thief or maniac.

When you consider that $1,000,000 has been refused for this picture, and that such a gallery as the Louvre contains thousands of paintings each worth a great fortune, it will be seen that such a building shelters more money value than any mint. After all, human nature with all its sordidness places the highest price on the things of the spirit.

It is becoming more difficult for a drinking man to make a living because employers are insisting that employees must let liquor alone or hunt other jobs. Many of the states have enacted employers' liability laws and these laws make employers responsible for injuries sustained by employees. At the time such laws were proposed little if any thought was given to the temperance phase of the question, but since these laws have been enacted it has come to the surface.

Experience shows that accidents are more frequently caused by drinking men than total abstainers. For this reason employers are quite naturally discriminating against the man who drinks. In some sections railroads and other corporations have their employees watched during their leisure hours, and if they are reported drunk, they are marked for dismissal. Many corporations absolutely refuse to hire men who drink.

As a rule, employers indemnify themselves against heavy losses by insuring their employees in casualty companies; but as these companies charge more to insure drinking men than they do total abstainers, and as employers want the cheapest insurance they can get, they insist that their men be able to meet the demands of the lowest rates.

Of course, all working men are not employed by big firms and corporations, but the individual employer is likely to follow the lead of the big fellows. It is coming to the point where the working man's bread and butter depends on his leaving drink alone.

There are in the world two sets of forces—one set pulling down, the other pulling up.

The homes, the ethical societies, the churches, schools, art museums, higher drama, the social settlements are pulling men up, putting more light and joy in human lives and increasing the sum total of the world's happiness.

Arrayed against these benign agencies are the forces of greed, appetite and passion, which through all time have pulled men downward.

Every man and woman is influenced more or less by both of these forces. He yields more often and more readily to the one with which he is most in sympathy. Habits, purposes, ideals, associations all are tendrils, or tentacles, by which one or the other of these forces gains hold on one.

As times change these forces take new shapes, new phases, new names; but through all the ages and under all conditions they are substantially the same—the one animated by love, the other by greed; the one working for the great brotherhood, in which there is a common glory and a common joy, the glory of good deeds and the joy of a noble self-respect; the other animated by a selfishness that is ready to see humanity damned root and branch if it can only "put money in the purse" and attain to the gratification of the lust for place and power.

We are not only influenced by these forces, but we blend into them and become part of them. Our every action is a force for good or evil in some other soul.

It is a ceaseless, unending battle, of vital and far-reaching results; and it is the first business of everyone to ask himself the questions:

"Which side am I on?"
"Am I with the forces which diminish the sum total of human joy and dwarf the world's manhood, or am I on the side of those forces which flood the world with gladness and promote the character which is the basis of all true civilization?"

It is purely a question of love or selfishness, of manliness or unmanliness; of the kindly human interest that would live for the brotherhood, or the stupid brute indifference that would find its satisfaction in its own miserable greed.

No matter how unimportant you may seem to be in the world's affairs, you are a vital force pulling one way or the other.

Which way are you pulling?

Last Night We Dreamed

That it frosted.

That it rained about two inches.

That we could hear the "barkers" and "spielers" with their "ballyho" at the county fair.

That a trip of "white wings" had descended on Second street and swept it clean of all filth and dirt and that it was also sprinkled and all clean and sanitary this morning.

That Rushville was on the boom and would soon have 10,000 population.

That the Pennsylvania tracks were being taken out of the center of town and laid around to the north.

That we had counted fifty new homes in the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Rushville.

That we could see the walls rising for the new Union Station at the intersection of the L. E. & W., Big Four C. H. & D. and Pennsylvania, and that it was a beauty.

That Carl Morris was singing in Grand Opera in New York City.

That all the stone and debris deposited in the city park had been removed and the city administration had decided to beautify the park instead of making it a "dumping ground" and disfiguring it; that new walks, in their paths, flowers and a fountain are to be put in and then trees planted so that the place would be made a joy forever.

That the Coliseum at the park had been painted.

That the Library Board had "accepted" a donation from Andrew Carnegie and that a fine new library building had been added to the list of fine buildings in the city.

That some of our wealthy citizens had "endowed" a lecture course; that others had "endowed" the Chautauqua; others the Library and that another had donated a set of chimes for his church and that it had all been done in the life of the donor so that the gift was sincere, that the giver might have a monument everlasting to his memory and all the people might thank him in his lifetime.

That the Merchant's Association had secured another factory to be erected in the early spring.

That the City Council had struck some overflowing wells.

That everybody had fly traps.

That all the women knew how to cook as well as Mrs. Calvin and to tell stories as well as Mrs. Hemingway.

That flying machines were as numerous as autos.

That Tom J. Geraghty had written a great play which was being produced in all the large cities of the country.

That the Ananias Club had changed the name to that of the Boosters' Club and likewise their talk.

That our fine teachers in the city schools didn't keep resigning or getting married.

That our city had grown so that our best young men didn't go away from home to get positions.

That there were no empty houses in Rushville.

ST. PAUL REMAINS IN "DRY" COLUMN

Ernest Boyer Appeals Case From the Shelbyville Mayor's Court to Higher Court.

HIS BOND IS PLACED AT $200

Defendant is Charged With Selling Liquor Without License Following a Sale Tangle.

The little town of St. Paul, which has been in the "dry" column since last Saturday when it was closed by Sheriff James Moore, will remain in the "dry" column until it is decided whether or not George Hess owns the license under which the saloon was operating, says the Shelbyville Republican. If he does, the doors will again be opened and if he does not, Ernest Boyer will have to stand trial for selling liquor without a license. The case was before Mayor Hawkins Friday morning and plea of not guilty was entered. The mayor found him guilty, the fine and costs being $60. An appeal was taken and the case will be heard in the circuit court during the October term. Boyer gave bond in the sum of $200.

Some time ago there was a reported deal on between George Hess of St. Paul, who operated a saloon and had other property at that place and Ernest Boyer, who resides in St. Paul. In the reported transaction, something like $11,000 was involved, if the deal went through. The saloon was being operated under the George Hess license and if a trade was made Boyer was operating under the Hess license without applying to the county commissioners for a transfer of license, according to the liquor laws. He came from Vigo county and the law requires a man who applies for a license to be a resident of the county six months. Boyer is making a claim that a deal of this nature had been on but that it had never been closed.

Whichever is the case, the saloon will not be opened until Boyer has been given a hearing in court. LOST—a two-stranded coral necklace with gold clasp, on Main or Second streets. AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the same program tonight that attracted large crowds last evening "Tangled Lives" is a very clever drama and is above the ordinary picture, "Old Indian Days" is a story of the hardships endured by the Indians in the early days.

The Young Buffalo wild west show was delayed in getting out of Rushville two hours last night when the wagon to which the twenty-ox team was driven, upset. It was loaded with canvas and had to be unloaded before it could be put back on the wheels.

The Vaudet will show three reels on their Saturday evening's program, all of which are excellent pictures. "Artful Kate," an Imp drama is the headliner of the trio. "The Midnight Visitor," a Solax picture, is a thrilling drama. "How Women Win" is a Powers drama. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The G. Carlton Guy Players will close their week's engagement here this evening with the thrilling melodrama, "Jesse James." This is said to be the most stirring play in the company's repertoire. Last night, "A Woman's Honor" was played to a crowded house. The company has enjoyed large audiences all week, even when the weather was very bad.

The Portola will have a special Civil War program tonight showing three reels of pictures, all dealing with the great conflict. "The Little Soldier of '64" is a drama, showing many sensational scenes and telling a story full of interest. "The Star Spangled Banner" is a drama showing the origin and events leading up to and causing the famous song to be written. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" has been seen for tonight. The picture is said to be very fine and shows many thrilling battles.

FORTY YEARS IN CONGRESS.

Late Senator Frye Belonged to a Famous Coterie.

SUCCESSOR A DEMOCRAT.

For First Time in History Maine Will Have Two Democratic Senators.
Three Vacancies Now in Upper House of Congress.

The death of Senator William P. Frye means that for the first time in its history Maine will be represented by two Democrats in the upper house of congress, as Governor Plaisted, who has the appointing power to fill the vacancy, is a Democrat.

Mr. Frye was in congress from the time of his first election to the house until the close of his life. The service had covered a period of forty years, giving him the longest continuous congressional record, with the two exceptions of Justin S. Morrill of Vermont and William B. Allison of Iowa.

For fifteen years Mr. Frye had been president pro tempore of the senate, and by virtue of the fact that he held this office when the late Vice President Hobart died he assumed all the functions of vice president of the United States during the latter half of President McKinley's administration.

Going to congress before the close of the reconstruction period following the civil war and being a pronounced partisan, Mr. Frye immediately became an active participant in the discussions of that thrilling period. He soon took front rank as a speaker and by the time he had served ten years had risen to a position of such eminence that but for his election to the senate he doubtless would have been selected as speaker of the house.

Senator Frye was one of the last two of that remarkable coterie of Maine statesmen which began with Hannibal Hamlin, ended with himself and Senator Hale, who retired at the close of the last session of congress, and included James G. Blaine, William Pitt Fessenden, Thomas B. Reed and Nelson Dingley. Both he and Hale began service in the senate in 1881 and served the nation side by side for thirty years, a much longer time than any other two men ever sat together in the senate, whether from the same state or not.

The death of Senator Frye makes the third vacancy in the senate. The first was caused by the death of Senator Hughes of Colorado. That continues because the legislature failed to elect his successor at its last session. The second was caused by the failure of Hoke Smith to surrender the governorship of Georgia before the expiration of the session of the legislature that elected him to succeed the late Senator Clay. With Senator Frye there were fifty Republicans in the senate. The Democrats had forty, besides the Georgia and Colorado seats, one of which will certainly be filled by a Democrat at the next session.

HAIL THE POTATO BUG.

Lowly Insect Found to Be Veritable Wonder of Transformation.

Hats off to the potato bug! Salute the lowly Leptinotarsa decemlineata, for it is exceedingly great among chrysomelid beetles.

The University of Chicago has recognized our old friend of the garden as a contributor to the theory of evolution and a cheerful martyr to the cause of modern scientific research.

Professor Tower, one of America's leading authorities in biological knowledge, has created new and startling kinds of potato bugs in all the popular shades, including the modish pencil and pin stripes.

These results were obtained by subjecting the germ plasm of Leptinotarsa decemlineata to chemical stimuli by crossing types under natural conditions and in a changed environment.

In most cases the crossing produced permanent new forms, in some of which profound changes of the physiological mechanism appeared.

MIRRORS ON TROLLEY CARS.

Purpose is to Prevent Accidents to Passengers in Alighting.

The Southern-Pacific is making arrangements to place handsome mirrors in the rear of all its Los Angeles electric cars.

The innovation, according to officials of the company, is expected to please women patrons, but is designed to serve more important purposes, that of inducing women to alight facing the front and also to enable passengers to see before alighting whether automobiles or other vehicles are approaching from the rear.

It is believed that many accidents and consequently many costly lawsuits will be avoided by the installation of the mirrors. There is some apprehension among conductors that passengers of a vain disposition may linger too long before the glasses and block the aisles and steps.

Winnipeg Buys Trolley Lines.

The city of Winnipeg has decided to buy for $15,000,000 the entire property of the Winnipeg Electric Railway company, which includes a railway (with fourteen years of franchise remaining), a power plant and gas and electric light works.

The Farmer and Agricultural Education

By Prof. J. H. SKINNER
Head of Animal Husbandry Department, Dean of Purdue School of Agriculture, Purdue University Agricultural Extension.

Farmers Listening to Lecture and Demonstration on Vaccination of Hogs to Prevent Hog Cholera, at Purdue University.

While schools of agriculture were established in several states in the middle of the last century, the agricultural college originated with the Morrill act. The Michigan Agricultural college graduated its first class in '61. In the early days the college of agriculture had little equipment and few instructors and still fewer students. There was no science of agriculture taught from the standpoint of approved practice. Young men went to the agricultural college to study the best practice. The field was new and the methods of the farmer were those of the pioneer. From the limited class room and few instructors and the study of approved practice, we have gone to the laboratory, the science of agriculture, the extension department with its special train, demonstrations, and short courses for practical farmers and agriculture in the public schools for boys and girls.

The modern agricultural college is broad in its scope and purpose. There is no longer a serious attempt to teach the art of agriculture requiring years of experience to master the details necessary to success, but emphasis is placed upon the principles underlying successful practice as determined by careful experimental investigation. The antiquated general courses of 25 years ago have generally fallen by the wayside, while in their places are to be found courses so designed as to permit a wide choice of subjects on specific lines, aimed directly at the technical needs of the individual. The best evidence of the value and success of modern agricultural education is found in the large number of agricultural college men who are actually succeeding on the farm. The graduates of the agricultural colleges are usually enthusiastic business men and much of their success and profit is a result of the improvement of the wasteful methods of the pioneer. In addition to the regular college work, provision is made for a class of students who, for one reason or another, cannot enter on a four-year course in scientific agriculture. This grade of instruction must necessarily be of a more practical nature and deal with a few fundamental principles and successful practice.

The short course for farmers and their wives which have attracted thousands of men and women to these institutions for one or two weeks' of serious study and discussion of the most advanced agricultural practice has become so popular and the demand for it so widespread that this form of agricultural instruction in many states is being taken out through the extension short courses to the people on the farm.

High-priced land, decreased crop yields on old agricultural lands, prevalence of crop pests, high price of grains and live stock, are conditions now confronting farmers, that are rapidly forcing them to see the importance of a thorough understanding of the principles underlying soil improvement, plant and animal growth and improvement by the application of business methods to farming.

Thousands of farmers are beginning to appreciate and avail themselves of the information which the department of agriculture and experiment stations have been accumulating for years. The college of agriculture and experiment station are looked upon as valuable sources of information at the free disposal of the farmers.

In addition, this agricultural instruction is creating higher ideals of living in the country, dignifying agriculture and farming, increasing the efficiency of the man on the land as well as the productive power of the soil. It is driving away the old-time drudgery by developing men of breadth of thought, information and culture, who not only see great fundamental problems, but who are capable of analyzing them and with a knowledge and determination which will speedily solve these problems that are of the utmost importance and significance to a nation with a rapidly growing population and industrial development.

The farmers of the future must practice scientific methods. The average Indiana farm can easily be made to yield from 50 to 150 per cent. more profit than is being made today. The young man who expects to follow farming cannot afford to go into it without an agricultural education. The farm offers one of the best opportunities that a young man can find in any business or profession.

Farmers Judging Corn at the Purdue Farmers' Short Course.

Hog Feeding Experiment.

The animal husbandry department is conducting a feeding experiment on hogs for the purpose of testing out the value of grinding corn for dry lot feeding with hogs of different ages. The hogs are divided into lots weighing 40, 100, 150 and 200 pounds respectively. One lot of each weight of hogs receive ear corn and tankage, one lot of each receives shelled corn and tankage, and one lot of each receives corn meal and tankage. This makes twelve lots of hogs of four different ages by means of which the relative value of ear corn, shelled corn, and corn meal may be tested.

New Poultry Building.

The poultry department of Purdue will build a new building, 14x80 feet. This building will be divided into eight pens, 10x14 feet, with yards adjoining, and will be arranged so as to be easily accessible to visitors. Many varieties of fowls will be kept here for student work, such as handling, feeding, and judging.

Improvement at Purdue.

The old part of the Purdue dairy barn is being remodelled. The box-stalls and the old type of stanchions are being replaced by the new stanchions. Box-stalls are also being built in the new wing of the barn which was built last year. This will give a capacity for 30 milking cows in the old part of the barn and accommodation for a dozen heifers and twice that number of calves in the new wing. The bulls are cared for in an especially built shed.

Feeding Corn Silage.

The cows of the Purdue herd are receiving quite a large ration of corn silage during the dry weather while the pasture is short. The succulence supplied by the silage is very important to large milk production.

Fifty-two of the leading railroad companies of the United States have run an agricultural improvement train over some part of their lines during the year ending June 30, 1910.

OPPOSING LORIMER

Progressive League Republican Candidate For Governor of Illinois.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 26.—Senator William Lorimer began his active campaign for popular vindication at the big Southern Illinois Soldiers and Sailors' reunion here.

The principal side of the campaign is to nominate Richard Yates for governor and to elect enough of Lorimer allies to the next Illinois legislature to hold at least the balance of power in the senatorial election involving the seat of Shelby M. Cullom.

One of Yates's opponents is Walter Clyde Jones, state senator, who is the Progressive Republican League's candidate. He is making automobile tours of the state.

SELLS HER BRAIN.

Georgia Normal School Instructor Has a Remarkable Memory.

Miss Celeste Parrish, who has for years been head of the department of pedagogy at the Georgia State Normal school and director of the Muscogee Elementary Practice school, has sold her brain to a northern institution of medical research for purposes of examination and analysis after her death.

It is said that Miss Parrish is to receive several thousand dollars for her brain, and the money is being paid to her in installments. Miss Parrish has a strong memory. She can read a chapter of ordinary length from a volume and after the one reading can repeat the chapter.

Price of a Hair Cut in Paris. The French papers nowadays are loud in their complaint that the extortionate demands of the labor unions are raising the cost of living to an unendurable height. The latest outrage of this kind reported is that the barbers of Paris have raised the price of a hair cut to 8 cents.

THE STORY TOLD BY WILLIAM LEE

Lays Blame of Crime Upon His Father.

MADE PARTIAL CONFESSION

Young Man Held at Boonville on the Charge of Murdering His Father, Mother and Brother, Has New Tale in Defense of His Actions Wednesday Night—Prisoner Taken to Evansville For Safe Keeping.

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 26.—William Lee, the alleged slayer of his father, mother and brother, whose partially charred bodies, each with skull fractured, were found in their home here early Thursday morning when a fire in the Lee home was extinguished, has made what the local authorities believe to be a partial confession. He confessed to Raymond Scales, the sheriff, and was taken away as fast as an automobile could carry him to Evansville in fear of mob violence.

He is said to have made the following confession:
"I was returning home from Newburg Wednesday night about 10 o'clock when I met my father at the door. He was armed with an ax."

"I am going to kill you, too," said his father to him.

Lee says he grabbed the ax and struck his father, but that he did not mean to do more than disable him.
Lee says that he did this in self defense and that a terrible struggle ensued.

As his father fell he said he went into the room where he found arrangements had been made to do away with the traces of the murder of his mother and brother. The bodies were already saturated with coal oil. He paused and then, terror stricken and half demented, knowing no wisdom and unable to tell how the thing would look, he set a match to the bodies.

This is the substance of the confession made to the sheriff, following which Dr. J. P. Samples, the family doctor, took him in his automobile under heavy guard, but eluding the townspeople, to Evansville. This was done before the townspeople knew of the confession.

No sooner had the automobile left town than the news of the confession became known and the popular insistence of Lee's entire guilt became more clamorous. The people believe that the statement of Lee that this was preying on his mind will lead to a complete confession of the whole crime before long.

KILLED NEIGHBOR

Brownstown Merchant Says He Acted in Self Defense.

Danville, Ind., Aug. 26.—W. A. Mc-Caslin was shot and killed by Charles Miller, a grocer, who is now in jail here. The shooting occurred at Brownstown, where the men live on adjoining properties.

Miller says that he stepped from his door and found McCaslin in his yard.
He says McCaslin told him, "We might as well finish this now," and made a movement to draw a revolver. Miller says he then shot McCaslin. A revolver was found on McCaslin's person after the shooting.

There had been ill feeling between the men for some time. Attention was paid Mrs. Miller by McCaslin were the cause of the shooting, according to Miller. McCaslin leaves a widow and two children.

Miller awaited the sheriff from this city at his home and made no effort to escape. He says he was compelled to shoot in self-defense.

ALL WERE WILLING

Defendant Pleaded That He Was Too Busy to Go to Court.

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 26.—An amusing court proceeding was the continuance of the case of Charles Bradburn against Joe Bath, the latter a superintendent in the Fame canning factory.
The manager explained that to have a trial would mean that a number of hands would be taken away as witnesses just at the time when they were most needed. The squire saw the point and said he would consent to continue until all the tomatoes were canned. The others seemed willing.

Hungry Boys Go to Jail.

Bedford, Ind., Aug. 26.—Three youths, tramping over the country, were arrested at Williams and brought here and placed in jail. They are charged by a number of farmers in that section with breaking into houses and taking eatables. The boys say they were unable to find employment and were compelled to obtain something to satisfy their hunger, as they were nearly always turned down when they asked for food.

She Quickly Repented.

Rockport, Ind., Aug. 26.—Goldie Hiles, a pretty girl about twenty-two years old, whose home was at Jacksonville, Ill., committed suicide in a hotel here by taking poison. It is said she eloped and became despondent after she reached Rockport. It is said her parents at Jacksonville, Ill., are well-to-do.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age.
Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

PEACE TREATY AVERTS RIOTS

Whites and Blacks In Louisiana
In Amity Pact.

NEVER SHALL BE A RACE WAR

To Avert Ever Present Possibility of a Clash Between the Races the Negroes and Whites of Slidell Have Entered Into a Formal Treaty Whereby
All Difficulties Between the Races
Shall Be Submitted to Arbitration.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 26.—Negroes and whites of Slidell, La., a lumber town directly across Lake Pontchar-train from this city, have signed a formal "treaty" wherein it is agreed that there never shall be a race war in the town, but that all difficulties between the races shall be submitted to arbitration.

This unusual pact came as a result of the attitude of the negroes toward the murder of James Smith, a policeman, at a dance hall. The policeman was killed by a negro or negroes. A posse is in search of the murderers and in it are a number of blacks.

A GREAT DEFENDER

Sixteen-Inch Gun May Protect the Panama Canal.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The war department may decide to use the only sixteen-inch gun in the army, now at Sandy Hook, N. J., as a part of the defenses of the Panama canal. The official tests showed that this was the most powerful piece of ordnance in the world. Nothing has ever been constructed that equals it in size or power. The projectile fired by this gun is in effect an aerial torpedo. The projectile weighs 2,400 pounds and will penetrate the thickest armor known to naval construction and has an explosive power equal to 140 pounds of the highest explosive. It is the opinion of army experts who witnessed the test of this engine of destruction that it will put the largest dread-nought in any navy of the world out of commission, if it did not actually sink her to the bottom.

M'ELROY WITHDREW

Judge Trimble Elected Head of G. A.
R. Without Opposition.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Judge Harvey M. Trimble of Princeton, Ill., was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The election of Judge Trimble was unanimous. Colonel John McElroy of Washington, his opponent, having dropped out of the contest. Colonel Nicholas Day of New York city was elected senior vice commander. The election and installation of the officers and the selection of Los Angeles, Cal., for the next encampment closed the encampment.

Newton J. McGuire of Indianapolis was elected commander-in-chief, Sons of Veterans.

MAY PROVE FATAL

Prominent Texan Dying From Effect of Fight With Liquor Advocate.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 26.—Senator B.
C. McNealus of Dallas collapsed at the capitol and is now in a critical condition as a result of internal injuries sustained on Tuesday night in his fight with J. F. Wolters, chairman of the anti-state-wide prohibition organization. The physician who was summoned was unable to ascertain the full extent of the senator's injuries and advised that he be taken to the hospital at once. Senator McNealus is one of the best-known newspaper men in Texas. He is sixty-two years old.

Threw Himself Into Cistern.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Aug. 26.—Gus Kestner, aged fifty-eight, a butcher, committed suicide by jumping into a cistern. State Auditor William H.
O'Brien was trustee in bankruptcy proceedings for Kestner, and will make a sale of the Kestner property soon. It is valued at $16,000.

Yeggmen Driven Off.

New Carlisle, Ind., Aug. 26.—A posse unsuccessfully pursued two men who, after breaking into the postoffice here, escaped in a stolen buggy. The robbers were frightened away before they stole anything and fought a running revolver battle with a watchman in fleeing.

Old Soldier Eats Rat Poison.

Delphi, Ind., Aug. 26.—George W.
Leslie, aged seventy-eight, committed suicide by eating rat poison. On going home to supper he had a quarrel with his wife, about seventy years old, after which he ate the poison, dying an hour later. Leslie was a civil war veteran.

Stolen Ride Proves Fatal.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 26.—The mangled body of a boy, apparently about eighteen years of age, was found along the railroad track at Cypress, a few miles below here. It is believed the boy was beating his way on the train and was thrown under the wheels.

The estimates for the pay of the army, including travel pay, will amount to $45,500,000.

SELECT TEXTS FOR COMING YEAR

High School Principals Meet at Close of Institute Agree on Uniform Books.

TO COMPLY WITH NEW STATUTE

Very Successful Teachers' Institute is Closed After Routine Business is Transacted.

At the close of the annual Rush County Teachers' Institute yesterday the high school principals of the county met and adopted the texts which will be used in the non-commissioned high schools of the county for next year. The uniform book law passed by the last legislature requires that the books used in the non-commissioned high schools in any one county shall be alike. The high school principals were assisted in selecting the text books by Prof. J. H. Scholl, superintendent of the public schools. The text books used in the non-commissioned high schools over the county are coming to be about the same as those used in the commissioned high schools.

The institute closed at noon after a most successful session. The last order of business was the adoption of the usual resolutions and the report of the secretary. His report showed that one hundred and sixteen teachers were enrolled, one hundred and fifteen had paid their dues and that 113 had been present daily.

As was predicted earlier in the week would be the case, the teachers, just before adjourning for good, voted to combine the institute with the ninth annual Rush county chautauqua next August. A campaign was conducted among the teachers to that end all during the week and it proved to be highly successful for there was not one dissenting vote in the teachers' ranks. A resolution was introduced by one teacher that the motion be laid on the table until Thanksgiving, but that was later withdrawn and a unanimous vote taken.

The combination of the two institutions is considered a very profitable arrangement for both organizations. The chautauqua is not only helpful to the teachers, but the teachers in turn do much good for the assembly. It is argued that the teacher is the center of intellectual and social activity in the country districts and that with a chautauqua booster in each school district in the county, good results are bound to come. In the past, when the institute and chautauqua were held together, the teachers were given a reduced rate when they purchased a season ticket and paid their regular dues all at once. The two were united until two years ago when it was decided to hold the teachers' institute apart from the chautauqua.

The last lecture of the institute was delivered by Dr. A. B. VanOrmer yesterday morning just before adjournment, on the subject, "The Most Significant Fact in Pedagogy." He pointed out that there are three ways of teaching: by the word method, by the life or biographical method or by one's own efforts. Dr. VanOrmer's work here this year was appreciated very much, even more so than it was last year when he first lectured here. He, together with his wife and child, who spent the week with him, left today for Bluffton, where Dr. VanOrmer will lecture at an institute all next week.

Miss Louise M. Dietz, of Madison, gave her closing lecture on primary work yesterday morning. She answered a number of questions in relation to her work which had been asked during the week. It was the thought in her last address that festival days might well be used by primary teachers to teach great moral lessons. She pointed out that Thanksgiving day should be used to teach the child to be thankful and that Christmas should be used to teach brotherly love. Miss Dietz said that there are many national holidays which may be used to teach patriotism, while Arbor day will teach many lessons of merit. Peace day, she said, should be impressed on the

SOCIETY NEWS

Miss Fanny Winship entertained with a slumber party at her home in West Fifth street last evening, the honored guests being the Misses Katherine Newsome of Carthage and Benlah Thomas of Greenfield.

Mrs. Charles A. Mauzy and Mrs. S. A. Mowers entertained a small company at the former's home last evening, honoring Mrs. Ed Mauzy and family of Los Angeles, who are visiting here.

Mrs. Mary E. Bell of Lewisville and Charles B. Spencer of Knightstown were quietly married at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart. Only the immediate relatives and friends were present. Rev. Esther Cook of Knightstown performed the ceremony.

DON'S OUT AGAIN.

Don Rogers, a singer for moving picture shows today completed a term of 110 days in the county jail and was released, says an Anderson dispatch. Rogers was sent down from Elwood after having been convicted of cursing a telephone girl. During his incarceration his wife obtained a divorce in the circuit court at South Bend.

ANNIE OAKLEY IS FEATURE OF SHOW

Woman Who Accomplishes Wonderful Things With Gun, Wins Admiration From Audience.

LARGE CROWD IN AFTERNOON

The Young Buffalo Wild West which is practically a duplication of the famous Buffalo Bill show only on a smaller scale, attracted a crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the tent at the afternoon performance. In the evening the crowd was not so large. The calling off of the fair yesterday afternoon was largely responsible for the afternoon crowd being so large.

The show was very entertaining although there was little of newness in the acts. The show gave a glimpse of frontier life and pictured the pastimes and life of cowboys on the plains. The riding of wild ponies, of steers, trick riding, lariat throwing and trick shooting, won the admiration of the audience. Annie Oakley, who accomplished seemingly impossible things with the gun, were by far the best act in the show.

The wild west show left last night for New Castle where it gave two performances today.

—Ralph Wicks of Hammond, Ind., is the guest of his uncle, Ernest B. Thomas and family in North Main street. He will spend Sunday with his grandfather, Dr. Thomas, in Milroy.
